FIRE DANGER IN FIREWORKS

City Trustees Take Precautions Against Fires by Adopting Some New Regulations

The city trustees ground out a good lot of work at the regular meeting last evening. The ordinance ordering work on Highland avenue was passed, as were the ordinance of intention to improvement of East Central and amendments to the license and firearms ordinances. Current bills were paid and several other matters considered.

A petition signed by Mrs. C. B. Jones, J. C. Dickson, trustee, A. N. Adams, Mrs. Lydia Anderson and F. R. Smith, representing 1200 feet of frontage on Wilden street, was presented, asking that Wilden be graded, oiled, tamped, curbed and guttered as soon as possible. J. C. Dickson addressed the board, asking that all trees be saved. An ordinance of intention was accordingly introduced.

The amendments to the fireworks and firearms ordinance were designed to make that law more stringent. The firing of firecrackers and other fireworks is absolutely prohibited within the city limits, as is the setting off of tissue paper balloons with their fearful menace of carrying fire into the mountains. The proper and fitting celebration of Independence Day will be permitted by the suspension of the embargo on firecrackers and fireworks from noon, July 3, to midnight of July 5 in the district south of Grand View avenue. The prohibition against balloons is not raised. The trustees feel that the danger from fire is so great this year that every possible precaution should be taken against it and the law will be enforced to the letter save in the cases mentioned.

Accepting the invitation of Mrs. H. H. Lund, the directors of the Board of Trade will visit El Reposo Sanitarium tomorrow. The party will start at three o'clock. The Board of Health will also make a tour of inspection. And since Mrs. Lund's invitation was originally extended to the entire Board of Trade the directors have invited any other members who wish to join them. A large amount of work has been done recently at El Reposo and things are taking shape so as to make a considerable showing. It is Mrs. Lund's desire that the citizens be acquainted with what is being done, facilities for care of patients and methods used, sanitary conditions and plans for the future.

AEOLIAN CLUB CONCERT

Pleasing Entertainment Given Under Direction of Prof. DeLano

The first public appearance of the Aeolian Club last Saturday evening at Town Hall afforded a pleasant surprise to many music lovers who had not been conversant with the work being done by that organization. The program was given as printed in last week's News, with a generous number of encores interspersed.

In the short time he has been instructing the club Prof. DeLano has succeeded in bringing the ensemble playing to a high point of excellence. The work of the club was gratifying to the most critical.

Of the other numbers, the trio composed of the Misses Forbes was received most enthusiastically. Their playing showed a finish acquired only through long practice together. The solo of Miss Helen B. Wright was received with the same enthusiastic applause which her singing always evokes. She responded to the encore with "Comin' Thro the Rye." Miss Etta Dickson has not been heard to better advantage for a long time and her readings received unstinted applause. Her numbers were a delight alike to her friends and those who had never heard her before.

MONDAY MUSICAL CLUB

An unusually interesting event both to musical and society people was the recital given at Glendale, the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Baker, last Monday evening. This was the closing session of a most successful club year. At the close of the musical program the officers for the coming year were installed. A pleasing feature was the presentation to the club by the retiring president of a handsome, silver bound gavel. Upon the silver mounting was the inscription, "To the Monday Musical Club. From Nellie Ingram Baker, June 21, 1909."

The soloists of the evening were Mrs. Albert M. Lyon and Miss Lucile Larkey. Mrs. Lyon has a voice of rare dramatic power and sweetness. Her numbers were most enthusiastically received, her songs being well chosen and faultlessly rendered.

Miss Larkey is too well known as a violinist to need an introduction in Sierra Madre. But her performance of Monday evening was without doubt the most entirely satisfying in which it has been the privilege of a Sierra Madre audience to hear her. Her rendition of the difficult 7th Concerto was masterly. Miss Larkey's firm handling of the bow contributes a quality too often lacking in the playing of ladies, though without detracting from most sympathetic and delicate interpretations.

Not the least pleasing part of the program were the accompaniments. Mrs. W. E. Rhea played for Mrs. Lyon's songs and Miss Hazel Hill accompanied the violin numbers of Miss Larkey.

The program follows:

CLUB HOUSE A BUSY PLACE

Contractor Gilbert Promises to Have Building Done on Time

The busiest place in town this week has been the new club building of the Woman's Club. Contractor Gilbert has increased his force of workmen so as to insure being able to turn the building over to the ladies on schedule time. Carpenters, finishers and painters have been putting in several extra licks per minute and rapid progress has been made.

About sixty days will have been taken up from the time the carpenter work began till the completion of the building. The grounds about the building have been levelled and will be made as presentable as possible for the opening functions.

So many Los Angeles people have signified their intention to be present at the opening social function at the Woman's Club House next Friday evening that a special car will be run from Los Angeles. It will leave the station at seven o'clock and will leave for Los Angeles about 11:45.

Everything points to one of the most enjoyable social affairs of the year on this occasion. The musical program from eight to nine, will be of the best. Following this there will be dancing and cards for those who wish to participate. The tickets have been in great demand and a large attendance is expected.

For the regular meeting next Monday, the final meeting of the club year, the annual reports and installation of officers for the coming year are scheduled. Because the laws of the club require that these be done in closed session the meeting will not be open to visitors between three and four o'clock. Invited guests may be admitted after four o'clock.

MR. TORRANCE IN GAS BUSINESS

Regarding a gas enterprise at Glendale in which Mr. L. C. Torrance of this city is interested, the Glendale News says:

Messrs. Torrance and Warren were in Glendale Tuesday last looking over our city in regard to the gas proposition. Mr. Torrance is one of the capitalists interested in the project and Mr. Warren came to Glendale as an expert to confirm the estimates made for the promoters by Mr. Gordon, who has been working the matter up for the past two or three months. Mr. Warren is an old electric light and power man, having been the first manager of the first electric company in Los Angeles, something like 25 years ago. We understand that he fully confirmed Mr. Gordon's estimates and approved of his plans, and he expressed his opinion that Glendale and surrounding territory constituted one of the most promising fields for a gas proposition which he has found for a long time. Mr. Warren is not at present connected with either gas or electric light business and has recently returned from a European trip during which he took notice of the trend of municipal improvements. He informs us that in Europe there are a number of cities which have discarded electricity and now use gas for street lighting purposes, great improvements having recently been made in gas lamps.

N. W. Tarr left Wednesday evening on a business trip to Arizona.

Miss Lucile Larkey of Los Angeles
was the guest of Miss Hazel Hill several days this week.

Miss Gertrude Cook closed a successful year's work at the Lamanda Park school last Friday and is enjoying a well earned vacation.

E. Stanton of Alhambra was shaking hands with friends and looking after business interests in Sierra Madre yesterday.

Robert Merrell has returned home from British Columbia, where he went after completing his year's college work in Washington.

Laurel Steinberger and Earl Smith
are spending the week fishing along the tumbling waters of the West Fork of the San Gabriel.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church has just completed a very successful year's work and meetings have been suspended for the summer.

A. D. Hawks made his appearance on the street Wednesday after a week of confinement during which he nursed some bad bruises. His injuries were sustained in a fall down a dozen or more steps at the residence of his sister, Miss Frances Hawks.

Miss Alice G. Lockwood returned home last evening from Washington, D. C. She was accompanied by Miss Emily Lockwood and Miss Theresa Hamson of Reispertown, Md., who will spend the summer with Mrs.
Martha Williamson and Miss Lockwood
at Casa Nido.

If news seems scarce in the personal column this week the reason may be found in the absence for part of the week of the editor at Venice where he went, accompanied by his mother and brother, to attend the meeting and summer outing of the Southern California Editorial Association. The editors will remain in camp at the Villa
Tilly till Monday, the 28th.

H. C. Churchill paid a flying visit to his Santa Anita canyon ranch last Sunday, leaving on Monday morning with the expectation of being absent till October. Tuesday evening he returned home suffering from a bad case of "poison oak." While inspecting the ranch on Sunday he had come into too close relations with the poison shrub and as a result was unable to continue the journey he began on Monday.

Mrs. C. C. Wainwright entertained at luncheon Wednesday, at her new bungalow on Santa Anita Court, Mr.
and Mrs. F. E. Nay and Mrs. C. B.
Hubbard of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs.
Nay are well known in musical circles in Los Angeles. Mrs. Nay was for several years a member of the Ladies' Lyric club. Mr. Nay is second tenor in the Euterpean Male quartette and a prominent member of both the Ellis and Gamut clubs, being a charter member of both organizations. Mrs.
Hubbard remained till the last of the week with Mrs. Wainwright. All of the Los Angeles guests are great admirers of Sierra Madre scenery, and they are greatly pleased that their old time friend, Mrs. Wainwright, decided to return from New York and build in Sierra Madre.

DR. NOBLE WILL PREACH

Dr. Noble, the Synodical Superintendent of Presbyterian Home Missions, will occupy the pulpit at First Congregational church next Sunday morning. Dr. Noble is residing in Sierra Madre for a few weeks and has a number of friends here who will be glad of an opportunity to hear him preach.

Miss Alma Gilbert attended the commencement exercises of the state normal school in Los Angeles yesterday.

Miss Nita Randall of Artesia spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Crabtree, of Wilden street.

Miss Hazel Hill is among the weekend guests at a house party of college
Sorority sisters at Ocean Park.

Mr. Mead also made a flying trip to Chino to visit Rev. F. B.
Doane.

Mrs. W. T. Leckey and her sister, Miss Howard, left on Wednesday for Dowagiac, Mich., where they will spend the summer.

Miss Elsie Caskey entertained fifteen young ladies Tuesday afternoon, complimentary to Miss Lucile Larkey
and Miss Eddie Hunter.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Campbell spent part of the week in Claremont and attended some of the Pomona college commencement festivities.

Mrs. Smith and Miss Smith, who have resided with Mrs. Ferry for several months, left on Tuesday evening for Chicago. They were accompanied by Miss Boardman, who goes to St.
Paul.

S. E. RHODES DEAD

Wednesday evening's Express contained notice of the death of S. E.
Rhodes, formerly of Sierra Madre.
Death was sudden and unexpected, caused by heart trouble from which he had suffered for some time. Rhodes had acted as engineer at Bimini Baths since going to Los Angeles a few months ago. He had worked for S.
R. G. Twycross for three years prior to that. His nearest relative was a sister living at Spirit Lake, Iowa.
Rhodes was an odd character, with much beneath the uncouth surface, which one would scarcely expect to find there. He was a great reader and informed on a great variety of subjects, especially astronomy. He also possessed some odd theories about various things and found his chief joy in arguing for them.

GOOD ADVERTISING

Secretary Mead of the Board of Trade receives twice monthly from the publishers of the West Coast magazine lists of inquirers regarding Southern California property. With a view to interesting them in Sierra Madre a personal letter is written each one and a copy of the illustrated Sierra Madre booklet is mailed, with the compliments of the Board of Trade. In addition duplicate lists are furnished each real estate man in the local field to follow up as he sees best. While more or less of this sort of advertising is like random firing some of it should hit the mark and bring definite results.

WILBUR LECTURE A TREAT

The lecture by Judge Curtis D.
Wilbur at Town Hall last Friday evening was a treat to all who heard him.
The hall was well filled, though such a man as Judge Wilbur deserves a much larger audience than could be put into any building in town for the presentation of his well known views and experiences on the boy and girl problem. What Judge Ben. B. Lindsay has been in Denver Judge Wilbur is in Los Angeles. His talks always grip the heart because he deals with realities and lights and shadows of life reflected in the juvenile court work are good material for a stirring appeal. A good, round sum was realized for the Knights of King Arthur.

BY THE WAY

For fourteen more strong arguments for a high school see the list of graduates from the grammar grades of the Sierra Madre public schools. If we cannot have a full high school course on the start, why not have at least the beginnings of a high school? The city could hardly put its money to a better use.

Nobody likes the idea of the two things that are proverbially the most certain to come—death and taxes. In the case of the former we are pretty likely to "get what is coming to us," and we have no one to blame but ourselves if we don't like that. As to the taxes, where do you get the larger returns for your money than you get for the money you pay the government, either local or general? What investment did you ever make for which you received larger benefits, direct and indirect? The habit of growling about taxes is an easy one to acquire and usually without reason. Of course there is occasionally a waste of public money in the administration of any department of government. But the small amount which does not serve its purpose well is such a small portion of the whole as to be almost imperceptible in the effect in your tax rate. So kwitcherkickin.

WHO IS MAWD?

This choice bit of verse was wafted our way following a recent meeting of one of Sierra Madre's most select and correct organizations of ladies:

A certain young lady named Mawd
Was called by her family a frawd

For of each table victual

She ate very lictual

But when back in the pantry—Oh,
Lawd!

Puzzle:—Who is Mawd?

It is unthinkable that Mawd could have found her way into so proper an organization as the one where the bit of verse was repeated. And of course the ladies would not say such things about any person not present.

WHICH IS WORSE?

The "Old Alkali" of the Artesia News gets this one off in last week's issue:

"That was a pretty good one that came to George B. Morgridge of the Sierra Madre News on our last trip to the top of Mt. Wilson. You see a crowd of us pikers, including several young ladies (fully as bashful as Brother Morgridge) had gone over to the observatory in the evening and were looking through the telescope at the different planets and the moon. The professor who was showing us through the works was a very absent-minded fellow. We had just been looking at the mountains on the moon and the canals on Mars. Morgridge turned to the professor and said: 'Has anything ever been discovered on Venus?' The professor turned and slowly answered, 'Not if the pictures of her are authentic.' And Brother Morgridge took the elevator."

We had hoped that Randall would keep that one under his editorial hat. But under the circumstances, we feel impelled to tell of one that happened to him. Along with other members of the craft Randall took his wife and little daughter this week to the Venice meeting of the Southern California Editorial association. He put in the first day rather strenuously with swimming, sight-seeing, etc., etc., etc. Next morning his little girl gave him a post card to mail to grandma up in Artesia. She wanted grandma to know how they were getting along. Of course Randall didn't read the card, but this is what was on it:

"Dear Grandma: I hope you and grandpa are well. I am well except my nose is sunburned. Mama is well except last night papa's tongue was coated."

Imperial Valley Press.—It is presumed that a United States senator knows enough about the state he represents to make no egregious blunders in speaking of its larger political divisions. On May 29, 1909, Senator George C. Perkins had not heard of the existence of Imperial county, which was created in August, 1907. In the course of debate on lemon tariff, Mr. Perkins told the senate that Imperial valley is in San Diego county. This is only another bit of evidence that Perkins is a back number. He should be retired from circulation and stowed away in a pigeon hole.

MONOTONOUS EITHER WAY

Some one to call you sweetheart,
Some one to turn your head,
Some one to take your money
Then calmly cut you dead.
Some one who likes to kid you
When you are feeling blue.
Some one to tease you
And then to freeze you—
Just some one.

IS IT A TRUE BILL?

Los Angeles Graphic.—Retirement of General Arthur MacArthur from active service has brought to the surface a chapter of army history of more than ordinary local interest, which will be recalled, generally, almost as soon as the first incident in the alleged story is related here. General MacArthur was in command in the Philippines in the early days of the American occupation of the islands, and one of his brigade staff was a Los Angeles major-general of volunteers, then in active service. The Southern California officer, it is said, gave an order while his own and other battalions were on the firing line, that, had it been carried out, would have resulted in the annihilation of several hundred American soldiers by a smaller force of Filipinos, under command of the then redoubtable Aguinaldo. It was General MacArthur who, realizing that a blunder had been made, countermanded the order just in time to save what, undoubtedly, would have proved a massacre. No report of the alleged facts ever was filed with the war department, in Washington, so far as is known, MacArthur having promised that the truth never would be made public, officially, by him, if the offender would forthwith resign his commission and return home, and with that the story appears to have ended. True or false, this is the story I have repeatedly heard.

He was telling a thrilling story out of his wallet of a thousand and one hairbreadth escapes over in Santiago, doncherknow, and his pretty listener was leaning anxiously toward him, hanging on his every utterance. "The wolves were upon us," he said, "bel-

AT THE THEATERS

Burbank

When Francis Wilson introduced "When Knights Were Bold" to a Los Angeles audience, a little more than a year ago, the Times said of the comedy: "Our season has not presented anything more wholesome nor more originally funny." Now this same play is to be shown at the Burbank and, so far as recollection serves, the same comment still holds good. Neither last season nor this has brought us anything of more clever fun; of equal cleanliness in its comedy. "When Knights Were Bold" will be played at the Burbank next week.

Belasco

The Belasco Theatre Company will play The Lion and the Mouse for a third week commencing Monday night. The Main street play house has been crowded to the doors at every performance since the presentation of this very remarkably strong American drama and the opinion has been very generally expressed both by critics and experienced play goers, that the production as given at the Belasco is infinitely superior in every way to that offered by the travelling syndicate organization at almost three times the Belasco prices. Certain it is that no more thoroughly prepared and conscientiously interpreted play has ever been given by a local organization.

Florence Reed as Shirley Rossmore, David M. Hartford as John Ryder, Richard Bennett on Jefferson Ryder and the other members of the Belasco Company contribute some very delightful and effective acting to the performance.

MR. HOUSE WILL SING

A general invitation is extended to the people of Sierra Madre to attend the recital by Mr. Edwin House at the Church of the Ascension Tuesday evening, June 29th, at 8 o'clock. Mr. House is regarded as the foremost baritone in this section of the country and this opportunity to hear him should not be overlooked. REINWALD'S MOUNTAIN CLIMBS

Famous Austrian Will Soon Start on Tour of the World

Paul Reinwald, the celebrated Austrian Mountain Climber and long distance runner, visited Sierra Madre friends on Wednesday. Reinwald has had an interesting career and has been engaged in some noteworthy exploits, though somewhat reticent about his part in them. However, he is an enthusiastic advocate of walking as a cure for most of the ills of mankind and can most easily be started talking by getting him started on this hobby. Walking, he holds, is the most effective thing in nature's big apothecary's shop.

Reinwald, while an Austrian by birth, has lived in the United States the past eight years. He is an American citizen and a loyal one. While on a world-tour which he plans for the near future he says he expects to carry the stars and stripes with him in every race he enters.

Education and travel have made Reinwald an interesting talker when once well started. He has seen most of Austria, Switzerland, Germany, France, and Italy and speaks several languages.

About a year ago Reinwald made his famous ascent of Old Baldy. It was at a season of the year when there was a large amount of the winter snow on the peak. He carried forty-one pounds of impedimenta—blankets, photo outfit and provisions for three days. He went up at night, with an indefinite trail and through fog and rain. Even with alpenstock and spiked shoes he found it almost impossible to make the last three miles over the icy covering of the mountain, and with a 70-mile wind blowing. His greatest danger was encountered on the descent. He encountered a fog, or cloud, so dense that he could not see ahead the length of his body. At one point he was miraculously brought to a halt where one more step would have meant a fall over a 3,000 foot precipice. A little later prepared the following notice which he pinned to his coat:

"I was lost in a heavy fog and forced to stay up here. In case I am found dead, bury me right at this place and send my possessions to my sister, Emma Kebler, Rosenbach, Corinthia, Austria. Paul Reinwald."

Reinwald is now planning a tour of the world. He intends to scale the highest peaks and go after some of the famous records of the world. His strong point is in difficult climbing and ability to endure hardship, rather than his ability to make speed on comparatively smooth courses. However, he intends to do some racing while abroad and will always carry Old Glory. Success to him.

THE HUNTING SEASON

The Los Angeles Graphic says:

Those mighty nimrods of Los Angeles who would rival our Teddy in his hunting feats, will find themselves slightly restricted by the new hunting license law which goes into effect July

The only things which the new law seems to lack is a clause for a hunter who is in danger of receiving a charge of buckshot from the gun of a companion, who mistakes him for a deer. After a glance at the new restrictions, I can find nothing that can in any way offend the sense of justice of the fair-minded sportsman. I would suggest to my hunting friends the advisability of exhibiting their licenses upon demand, as inability to produce such empowers a county constable to haul them off to a village lockup. Bona fide residents of California are only taxed a dollar for a license, but the alien is mulcted ten dollars for the privilege of shooting over state preserves. The dove season lasts from July 15 to October 15, with a limit of twenty a day. The elusive deer may be chased from August 1 until November 1, with two bucks allowed in the season. The quail season lasts from October 1 to February 1. It is unlawful to kill mountain quail or grouse before 1911, but the hunter may bag twenty desert valley quail in a day, if he can. Snipe season also opens October 1, and lasts six months, and the tree squirrel season ranges from September 1 to January 1, with a limit of twelve for a season.

Owing to errors in proof reading at the office where the News gets its linotyping done, it is necessary to publish Ordinance No. 96 once more, the first publication being invalidated by the errors.

The trees which are used in the government work of reforestation are grown at eight government nurseries in the western forest reserves. The preliminary stage of forest planting has been passed, and the eight stations now contain some 9,000,000 trees from one to three years old. Several planting stations have produced, already, trees of sufficient growth for planting in the permanent sites, and about 60,000 of these were planted during the winter and spring of 1907.

General Staws was a martinet, a stickler for etiquette, a man with a prodigious sense of his own dignity, and when Private S. Weigh, the bugler, one day failed to honor him in passing with the customary salute he flew—internally—into a towering rage. "Knutt," he said that afternoon to the colonel, "Private Weigh failed to salute me this morning. A breach of lute the general. See that he is severely reprimanded." "Look here, Binks," said the sergeant next day to the corporal bugler, "give Weigh a good talking to, will you? He didn't salute the old general the other day." Finally the corporal bugler communicated with Private Weigh. "Look here, funny

There joined the police force of London a young Scotchman but recently arrived from his native land. Being detailed one day to block the traffic on a certain thoroughfare where members of royalty were expected to pass, he was accosted by a lady hurrying to keep an appointment, who thrust her head from the carriage window to remonstrate with him over the delay. "I canna' let you pass, ma'am," answered the man of the baton. "But, sir, you do not know who I am. I am the wife of a Cabinet minister." "It dinna make na difference, ma'am," he answered. "I could na let you pass if you were the wife of a Presbyterian minister." "etiquette, sir! A piece of impertinence—my dignity—haw! See that the man is severely reprimanded." Colonel Knutt trembled and nodded and next day spoke to the captain. "Bisket," he said, "Private Weigh failed to salute the general yesterday. Please see that he is severely reprimanded." "Right," sir," said Captain Bisket, and the next day he spoke to the sergeant. "Sergeant," he said, "Weigh didn't sa-

Captain Raabe was a man whose name had weight in the French cavalry. He was a tall man, belonging to the middle-aged trooper type. With military qualities of the highest kind, he had a singular bearing, a savage sort of misanthropy, and a cynical tongue, which stood in the way of promotion. When he was in the Sixth Lancers, on garrison duty at Commerce, one of his comrades brought his father to dine with him at the officers' mess, a man of humble position, and unpretentiously dressed. Captain Raabe, considering that this guest had not been fitly received, gave expression to his opinion, saying that, if the executioner of Commerce had come in evening dress he would have had a better reception. The officers demurring, he made no rejoinder, but shortly afterward came to mess with a guest whose dress was irreproachable. Every one lavished attentions on the unknown. When dinner was over, Captain Raabe, raising his glass, proposed the health of "The executioner of Commerce."

"Ma," said Bobby, "is it wrong for little boys to tie tin kettles to dogs' tails?" "Decidedly wrong, Bobby; I hope you'll never do such a thing as that." "No, indeed, ma," replied Bobby, emphatically; "all I do is to hold the dog."—Harper's Bazar.
